Save the Date for NEUAC 2010!

National Energy and Utility Affordability Conference
June 14-16, 2010

Hyatt Regency San Antonio on the Riverwalk, San Antonio, Texas

Join us in San Antonio, Texas, on June 14-16, 2010, when the National Fuel Funds Network and National Low Income Energy Consortium present NEUAC 2010, The National Energy and Utility Affordability Conference. NFFN and NLIEC are again partnering to present the largest and most comprehensive event of its kind in the United States to address the need for affordable home energy and other utilities for low-income households.

NEUAC participants represent nonprofit and government agencies, utilities and other institutions who provide utility and fuel bill assistance for families in need, energy efficiency and weatherization services and consumer education. The conferences feature nationally recognized speakers, workshops and hot topics roundtables on a wide variety of issues, as well as exhibits and other sessions. The intent is to provide valuable information for energy assistance professionals and build national awareness of energy poverty.

Clicking on "2009 Conference" or "2008 Conference" in the menu bar above will take you to sections containing overviews of our two most recent conferences. The overviews also contains links to additional information about NEUAC 2008 and NEUAC 2009.

This website is a work in progress and will be updated regularly as we approach the 2010 conference, so please stop by frequently!
