For the past seven years, NFFN's LIHEAP Action Day has proven to be a very effective event to convince Congress to increase the LIHEAP funding to the present $5.1 billion annually. We will need to work hard to secure this level again or more in FY 2011, and the action begins on February 10. We need your participation.

NFFN's LIHEAP Action Day will begin with a breakfast briefing at 8:15 am and end with a reception 4:30 on Wednesday, February 10, 2010. NFFN also will provide a central gathering place on Capitol Hill, talking points and background information, expert advice and training in lobbying for LIHEAP and a diverse group of participants.

We expect representatives from fuel funds and other nonprofit organizations, consumer advocacy programs, utility and fuel oil companies and associations, and local, state and Tribal governments. Action Day advocates will fan out over Capitol Hill with a uniform message for legislators – provide needed LIHEAP funding.

NFFN will also have a briefing and reception for early arrivals on Tuesday, February 9 at 4:30, PM, at a location close to the event hotel.

There is no charge for registration. We will update registrants on the legislative situation and other developments between now and LIHEAP Action Day.

NFFN has arranged for discounted hotel rates at the Red Roof Inn in downtown Washington. The hotel is in Chinatown, near the Verizon Center. It is directly accessible on the Metro yellow line from Reagan National Airport, two blocks from the Gallery Place stop. The deadline for the discounted room rate at the Red Roof Inn is January 21. Please register now for the hotel.
